Canning

skins with a fork, the tomatoes food for each member of the family in order to meet the daily food requirements through the months when fresh garden produce is not available.

The Cannery is open Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday at 8:30 a.
m. Due to special equipment needed for chicken and corn canning, it is necessary to call 24 and make reservations 24 hours in advance. Anyone who wishes to hire someone to do their canning may do so by calling in advance.

The charge will be 25 cents an hour with a guarantee of 6 hours of work.

The following information has been requested in regard to chicken canning. This is the time of year to cull the flocks and many families plan to can these chickens in order to meet the great shortage.

Precautions And Suggestions

Kill and dress the chicken at least 6 hours before it is to be canned as it requires that long for the body heat to disappear.
It is good to hang carcasses head down when killing in order that it will bleed well and not be bruised.

The silver should never be packed with rest of chicken as the flavor will penetrate every piece.
A frying size chicken makes one quart of No. 3 can. Some people prefer to pack choice pieces.

Fried Chicken

1. Cut into pieces.
2. Sear in hot fat until golden brown. (Avoid frying in iron skillets). Pack in cans.
3. Fill to within one-fourth inch of top of can with boiling gravy made from pan grease and boiling water. Add 1 teaspoon salt to one quart.
4. Exhaust to 200 degrees.
5. Seal.
6. Process in retorts for 70 minutes at 15 pounds pressure.
7. Remove cans from retorts and cool quickly in cold water.

Corn Canning

Corn is easier to can early in the season before it becomes so starchy. It is best to gather corn while the day is still on in.
It should be gathered about 17 to 25 days after silking, the exact time depending upon variety and season.

1. Only freshly-gathered corn should be canned. Corn should be in the can cooking within two hours after taken from the silk.
2. The corn should be in the milk stage. Large quantities should not be gathered at one time as the corn should be canned immediately after gathering.
3. Ears of uniform tenderness should be grouped together.
4. The silks should be removed with a stiff brush.
5. Blanch the ears in hot water or steam for about three minutes. This will "set" the milk.
6. Cut from the cob.
7. Pack into No. 2 C-camel cans. Do not pack too tight.

Leave 3-4 inch head space to allow for swelling.
8. Add one-half teaspoon salt to each pint and as much boiling water by weight. (One teaspoon of sugar may be added if preferred).

9. Bring to boiling point and 10. Place sealed cans in exhaust box until all cans are ready to process.

11. Process at 10 pounds pressure (240 degrees) for 60 minutes.

12. Remove can and cool quickly by immersing in cold water.
This prevents flat-sour.

A Mercians-All

I might not be informed for days.
Regardless of where I am or might be sent, there will always be a Red Cross representative in the field getting paid for doing these things and they can get hold of me when others fail.

Remember all of these things and then hope that you will never have to do them, but be sure and do them if there is news that I should know for it means so much to me to have you know these things. Please tell the parents of other boys about this service for it means so much to all of us to know that you can get us when you need us.

Apollo got the Glory ...the Vitamins did the work

Fortunately, we do not have to depend upon the whims of an Apollo for safeguards for our health. Science has demonstrated over and over again that sensible living and proper nutrition are the first steps toward a robust body and an alert mind.

The entire nation looks eagerly for news about Science's continuous studies of vitamins. One fact that has been determined is that the B Complex vitamins are the least plentiful in the foods that come to your table.
Physicians say that your body is quick to feel a B Vitamins deficiency, but unharmed if you get more than enough.

The home of Budweiser is one of the world's biggest sources of B Complex vitamins. They are contained in brewer's yeast, which we supply to leading pharmaceutical manufacturers. From them, our armed forces and our civilian population obtain millions of B Complex vitamin units to supplement the daily diet when necessary. The perfection of this vitamin-rich yeast is one more result of laboratory and research work that has helped to produce the world's most popular beer.

Budweiser

In addition to supplying the armed forces with glider parts, gun turret parts and foodstuffs, Anheuser-Busch produces materials which go into the manufacture of: Rubber • Aluminum Munitions • Medicines • Hospital Diets • Baby Foods • Bread and other Bakery products Vitamin-fortified cattle feeds • Batteries • Paper • Soap and textiles—to name a few.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Beans

So long as a soldier can eat and think up dispensing names for his equipment the Army will do all right. Food is either "beans," or "chow."

"Chow" may consist of a well cooked meal or it circumstances demand our fighting men have learned to subsist on "Ration K," the concentrated food that all of them carry into battle.

With millions of men and women in the services it will require a lot of War Bond buying on our part to keep them happy.

Save On Railroad Street —

AMERICA SHOULD KEEP ITS LIFELINES STRONG

1 WHEN YOU READ of the enormous amount of troops and materials of war that the railroads are so successfully transporting today, it is not surprising that many people have assumed those figures represent big profits for the railroads. Actually, this is not true, even though the Class I railroads carried 80% more passengers in 1942 than in 1941, and 33% more freight.

4 MAJOR FINANCIAL PROBLEMS now faced by the railroads include heavy taxes and greater cost of materials. Equipment now in service bears extra strain. The wheels pictured above travel more track in a week than they used to travel in a month. And rails and cars and engines are being used up at a rapid rate. Normal repairs cannot be made because of shortage of materials and man-power. Funds which should be put aside out of current earnings for making these repairs in the future are now taxed as "profits."

2 IT IS TRUE the railroads are earning more money today than they have in recent years, but for many years past they have been making far less than other businesses. In 1942 a peak year, earnings were only 5.56% on investment. And in the ten years ending with 1941, the average earnings were only a fraction over 2%. Many small businesses like the little retailer pictured above have, over the year, made much more money per dollar invested.

3 IN THE FIRST WORLD WAR the standard return fixed by the government for the railroads amounted to 5.21% on investment. Today the railroads are earning about 6%—a little more than they did in 1918. But they are carrying 24% more passengers and 55% more freight.

5 WEAKENING OF THE RAILROADS would be a national calamity. They are our lifelines, the vital arteries of our industrial and commercial system. America must keep its railroads strong. Too much depends on them today, and will depend on them tomorrow, to risk the effects of any policy that would endanger what we now enjoy—the finest railroad service in the world.
